

A large flock of white birds, likely terns, with black caps, are shown in various stages of flight against a clear blue sky. Some birds are in the foreground, while others are scattered throughout the background. Below the flying birds, a large group of similar birds is gathered on a sandy beach. The overall scene conveys a sense of freedom and natural beauty.

Set Freeeee...

Sensory fulfillment without ire, if to bequest and learn affection.

Beknownst fears run wild, and recoil garnered attention.

Crossing timelines convey a mélange of bravery.

High hopes flock about one's anonymity.

Opposing sides design for disingenuous raucous.

Polish mirrored reflections ousted from youth.

Jovial to endless comradery of neither past nor present.

State of mind crashes its course in free-verse dichotomy.

Time in passage lays utmost quality or reverse profundity.

–Jan L. Harvey